

ENVIRONMENTAL CONFLICT RESOLUTION WITH A FEDERAL NEXUS

By: Cherie Shanteau-Wheeler
Director of Programs, U.S. Institute for Environmental Conflict Resolution

Disputes involving federal environmental laws and regulations are becoming more frequent and more complex. Many practitioners may not even realize the range of options available for resolving such disputes outside of the litigation context. Join us for a presentation from Cherie Shanteau-Wheeler of the U.S. Institute for Environmental Conflict Resolution, an independent federal program that provides conflict assessment, facilitation, and mediation services in disputes with a federal nexus. She will discuss the range of conflict resolution services available and provide case studies in successful resolution of complex, multi-party disputes.
