

The Federal Bar Association, Tucson Chapter, presents:

Criminal Detention and Immigration Issues in the Wake of Santos-Flores

The Tucson FBA Chapter is presenting this informative CLE seminar upon special request to help attorneys and judges understand and better respond to the intersection between criminal detention matters and immigration consequences, following the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals' recent ruling in US v. Santos-Flores. The presentation by a well-rounded panel of speakers experienced in this area will be followed by a question and answer session.

Presenters:

Thomas O'Leary, United States Immigration Judge
Matthew Green, private immigration and defense attorney
Erica Seger, Assistant United States Attorney

Tuesday, March 22, 2016, 12:00 -1:30 PM

Evo A. DeConcini United States Courthouse | Jury Assembly Room

The costs are :$15 for members, law students, and law clerks,
$25 for non-members

Register Here:

Santos-Flores CLE Luncheon

(check-in and lunch begins at 11:30; presentation begins sharply at noon)

Registrants must select lunch (box lunch from Baggins):

Unforgettable (turkey)

Prime (roast beef)

Veggie (self-explanatory)

May qualify for up to 1.5 hours of CLE credit